I'm Dennis Ong, an engineer and photographer based in Kuala Lumpur.

It all started back in 2006, when I first picked up a point and shoot camera then I realized I have fallen in love with photography. Ever since then, I tried my best to learn the tricks of the trade via books, Google, YouTube (who doesn't?) and also workshops.

I've been shooting weddings, portraits, events and also products for more than 5 years. My photography nature gravitate more to candid and documentary style as I like to capture the moment itself but also open to try new things once a while! =)
